District Background

Harris County Municipal Utility District No. 82 was created by order of the Texas Water Rights Commission, now the Texas Commission on Environmental Quality, on May 30, 1973, to purchase, construct, operate and maintain all works, improvements, facilities and plants necessary for the supply and distribution of water; the collection, transportation, and treatment of wastewater; and the control and diversion of storm water.

MUD 82 provides water and sewer services via three water plants and a state of the art wastewater treatment plant to residential homes, businesses and Spring ISD schools located within the district. Other management responsibilities include garbage collection, recycling and maintaining security for the district facilities. The Board was recognized by AWBD in 2011 for its efforts in water conservation.

The District is located in northern Harris County approximately 23 miles north of the central business district of the City of Houston and contains approximately 2,219 acres of land.

HOA

During times when we find ourselves in the midst of troubling issues we understand that the most important factor is getting the problem solved as quickly as possible. We have found that knowing who to contact is the best way to accomplish this goal.

MUD vs. HOA

The Municipal Utility District (MUD) is a democratically run political subdivision of the State charged with providing critical life sustaining services to all its residents and customers without discrimination. The Homeowners Association (HOA) is an organization within a subdivision, planned community, or condominium building that makes and enforces rules for the properties and residents. Both organizations conduct elections, however, the MUD's elections are governed by the Texas Election Code and federal election laws. This means that if five registered voters live at the same address within the MUD, all five registered voters may vote their conscience in a MUD election.

Contrarily, HOA elections are not democratic in that only one vote is allowed per lot. If one person or corporation owns 15 lots in the subdivision, that person gets to cast 15 votes in a HOA election even if 14 of the 15 properties have renters, none of the residents/renters are eligible to vote because they do not own the property.
